

any

Get the most out of your contents

All your contents, wherever they are, unified with one unique solution.

Unified Contents

Get access to all your company contents, wherever they are, with one unique solution. Any offers the ability to contribute and collaborate, but also allows the sharing and management of documents coming from multiple sources (Documentum D2, Microsoft SharePoint, IBM FileNet, File system, etc).

Content Management

Content management made easy with Any. All the features required to create, review, approve and distribute contents are easily accessible. All comprehensive tasks and life cycle features are tracked with a full audit. A complete set of tools, without the complexity.

Collaboration

Take your project to the next level with Any. Easily collaborate with your team, invite them to share and manage contents regardless of their roles and access levels.

Metadata

Any can unify metadata coming from multiple sources in a unique model for all contents. One can define custom metadata relevant for your business, then search and filter all your contents in a seamless way.

Powerful Search

Quickly finding the right content is a users' top priority. With an efficient full-text indexing, metadata facets, simple or advanced search syntax, private or public stored searches, and more, Any always offers the best way to search for contents. In addition, custom filters based on metadata are available at any time to refine search results.

Security

Any provides a wide range of dynamic security measures to ensure that your contents are as secure as you need them to be. Metadata-driven permissions allow to dynamically adapt your contents access to the lifecycle. A two-factor authentication can provide a second level of defense and an auditing module allows one to keep track of contents usage.

Flexible solution, in the Cloud or On Premise: your choice

Any offers a wide range of features which can solve a variety of business cases: adding a new in-house repository, sharing contents with providers or customers through a secured cloud-based access, creating a unique access point for all the company contents. On Premise or in the Cloud, Any can accommodate your different business needs.

User Interface

Boost user adoption with our modern, intuitive, responsive user interface, which is available on all types of devices. Access your contents, collaborate and contribute from anywhere. Natural language query and faceted search give you access to the most current and relevant information.

Modern Config

Admins can enable, disable and configure all functions and features of Any through the configuration interface. Configure all the business rules with dedicated modules orchestrated by the unique concept of configurable flow triggered by events. Flows bring you unlimited capabilities which make Any the perfect tool for all kinds of business.

Offline

Access your contents from anywhere on any device. With Any, contents can be made available offline in a single click. Offline creation is also possible. New contents are synchronized when connection to a network is reestablished.

Anything, Anyone, Anytime, Anywhere

Easy configuration for complex needs

In the old world of deeply customized On-Premise solutions, as well as in the new world of SaaS, in which lower costs sometimes mean less adaptability, C6 has always promoted the same paradigm: usability and flexibility are keys.

Latitude Nord - 770 Av. Alfred Sauvy
34470 Pérols - France

contact@c6.eu

+33 4 67 47 60 71

www.c6.eu